School Board Election Filing Opens Aug. 19

by KAREN WILTBERGER

Nineteen school board seats in four Antioch school districts are up for the Nov. 5 school board elections.

The week-long filing will begin Monday, Aug. 19 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., and run until 5 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 26. People who have received 50 signatures on their petitions can file at the school district for which they seek election.

Most school board members, whose seats are up for election have indicated they will seek re-election, school authorities said.

At the Antioch Community High School, five positions are up for election, of which four are full four-year terms and one a two-year unexpired term.

Seats are up for board members Julie Portalski, Charles Forester, Michael Zien, Glen Moore and Tom Fisher.

Zien and Fisher were appointed to the board earlier this year to replace members Betty Meyer and Tony Stavcevic, who resigned from the board because they moved to another district.

All five members and three others have taken out petitions from the school. Petitions, however, can be taken from other locations, in which cases school administrators may not be aware of them.

Antioch Grade School District 34 also has five board seats up for election. Four are four-year terms and one is an unexpired two-year term.

The seats currently belong to Ed Haley, Bruce Jablonski, Clint Glover, Phyllis Zora and Roy Pomrening.

Pomrening was appointed in January to replace the Jim Quedenfeld, who passed (Continued on Page 10A)

Antioch Man Arrested For Drug Theft, Sale

An Antioch man was freed on bond after being charged with the theft and delivery of thousands of tranquilizers and birth control pills with an estimated combined street value of $25,000.

Charles Christopher Cole, 26, of 43398 N. Park Terrace, was arrested in Countryside, a southwest Cook County suburb, by investigators from the Illinois Department of State Police, Division of Criminal Investigation.

Cole sold the birth control pills and the tranquilizers, Lorazepam, a drug used to relieve anxiety, to undercover agents for $8,000, a state police spokesman said.

Cole was arrested in a motel parking lot at 10:45 a.m. on Aug. 6 after selling agents 2,400 packets of birth control pills and 1,700 Lorazepam pills.

Cole faces an Oct. 3 preliminary hearing in Cook County Branch Court, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said Cole is a salesman for a national drug manufacturer, but declined to identify the company.

A Chicago drug wholesaler notified authorities about Cole and investigators contacted him for the sale, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said the drugs were samples to be distributed to clients and doctors. But Cole allegedly sold, instead of gave away, the drug samples to customers and falsified company records.

Toft Chairs St. Jude Bike-A-Thon

Mayor Ray Toft will be the chairman of an Antioch bike-a-thon sponsored by St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

Toft will seek co-workers, riders and sponsors for the St. Jude Wheels for Life Bike-A-Thon, scheduled for Sept. 28.

Proceeds will help to support the children's hospital, located in Memphis, Tenn., which treats children who have been struck with diseases, such as leukemia.

It is estimated that the hospital spends $20,000 to care for one leukemia patient for one year. At this time, St. Jude's treats about 2,300 children who have leukemia.

The hospital to date has treated about 10,000 child patients without charge.

County Reading, Truancy Programs Get Funding

The Office of the Regional Superintendent of Schools has just received notification from the Illinois State Board of Education of approval and funding for two state grants.

The program "Improving Basic Skills in Reading: A Problem-Solving Approach Across the Curriculum" is a staff development model to assist high schools and elementary schools improve the quality of basic instruction of reading across the curriculum.

The training will infuse the research on critical thinking and problem solving to enable trained teachers to improve the quality of basic skills instruction.

The funding of $37,000 will be utilized for training consultants, materials, substitute salaries and evaluation. The administrative services will be provided by the Office of the Regional Superintendent of Schools.

The second project, "Truants Alternative Program; (TAP), has been funded for $95,000. The objectives of the TAP program are to: 1) develop a prevention program in the elementary grades, 2) increase school attendance, 3) increase coordination of truancy services, 4) increase awareness of truancy alternatives available to school staff and 5) increase community awareness of truancy alternatives.

The need for this support service is evident in statistics submitted to this office by Lake County school districts. The truancy rate exceeds 16 percent and the reported chronic truants, those children absent from school 10 out of 40 consecutive days, exceeds 3 percent.

The major goal of the project is to develop a prevention model to be used in the early grades as well as an early intervention component. At present, there is no coordinated effort in Lake County between institutions that most relate to truancy: the school, the family and social services. As a result of this funding, this coordination will be developed and implemented. Sybil Yastrow, assistant superintendent, will be administering both of these projects.

Victim Knew Rapist For Three Years

A 25-year-old McHenry woman who reported she was raped Aug. 10 near Antioch apparently knew the man who abducted her in a restaurant parking lot, and later raped her in her car on a gravel road off of west Rt. 173.

"They weren't real close friends, but she's known him for at least three years," said Willie Smith, deputy chief of investigations of the Lake County Sheriff's Department.

Smith said investigators are trying to determine if the rape occurred.

Smith said the woman was abducted at 8:40 p.m. and released at 6 a.m. He said the man fell asleep in the car after the rape next to the woman, who said she pretended to be asleep.

The woman reported the man hid in her station wagon after she left it for a few minutes to make a phone call to a friend from Weasel's Restaurant, Rt. 173, east of First Ave. She apparently was on her way to Struggles Restaurant, Rtes. 173 and 59.

When she returned to her station wagon in the parking lot at about 8:40 p.m., the man popped up from the rear seat, pressed a switch blade knife against her back and ordered her to drive out of the lot.

He then directed her to turn north on a gravel road, after driving west on Rt. 173 for a few minutes.

The woman then was ordered to climb over the front seat into the rear seat, where she reported the rape occurred.

Jury Finds Lovett Guilty

Lee G. Lovett, a Washington, D.C.-based attorney, charged with his involvement with a complex payoff scheme in Fox Lake, was found guilty on two charges of mail fraud late Monday night.

The seven-women and five-men jury acquitted Lovett on four counts of bribery conspiracy and interstate travel violation charges. He now faces up to a maximum term of 10 years in prison and a fine up to $2,000. He will be sentenced on Oct. 3.

Lovett would have faced a maximum of 30 years in prison and a up to a $42,000 fine if found guilty on all charges.

Lovett was charged with setting up a complex payoff scheme in 1980 allegedly to get the Fox Lake Village Board to approve a long-term franchise contract with US Cable of Lake County.

In the alleged scheme, Lovett gave former Fox Lake Mayor Richard Hamm and former Fox Lake trustee Richard Gerretsen each a 2 percent ownership in US Cable of Lake County for steering the board to award a cable television franchise to the company; and a 1 percent ownership to McHenry accountant Kurtis Borre for hiding the ownership of the village officials.

The 5 percent ownership is estimated to be worth $250,000.

The village board selected US Cable in a 6-0 vote.

Hamm, Gerretsen and Borre have already pleaded guilty to their in the cable TV payoff. Their sentencing has been postponed pending their testimony against others involved in the alleged bribe scheme.

Former Fox Lake village trustees Jean Berdnick and Ronald Prosser testified last week that they were unaware of the involvement of Hamm and Gerretsen, or of the firm's offer of local ownership.

Lovett also was instrumental in getting US Cable franchises approved in Antioch and Lake Villa.

Huge Red Potatoes

Former Antioch Mayor Murrill Cunningham shows off two huge red lake potatoes he grew in his garden this summer at his home on North Street. Cunningham has donated three and one-half bushels of potatoes this year to the Bee Hive Restaurant where he often dines.

Grass Lake Road Repair Halfway To Completion

The $1 million rehabilitation of a two-mile strip of Grass Lake Road is expected to be complete by September, said a spokesman of the Lake County Highway Department, which is funding the five-month project.

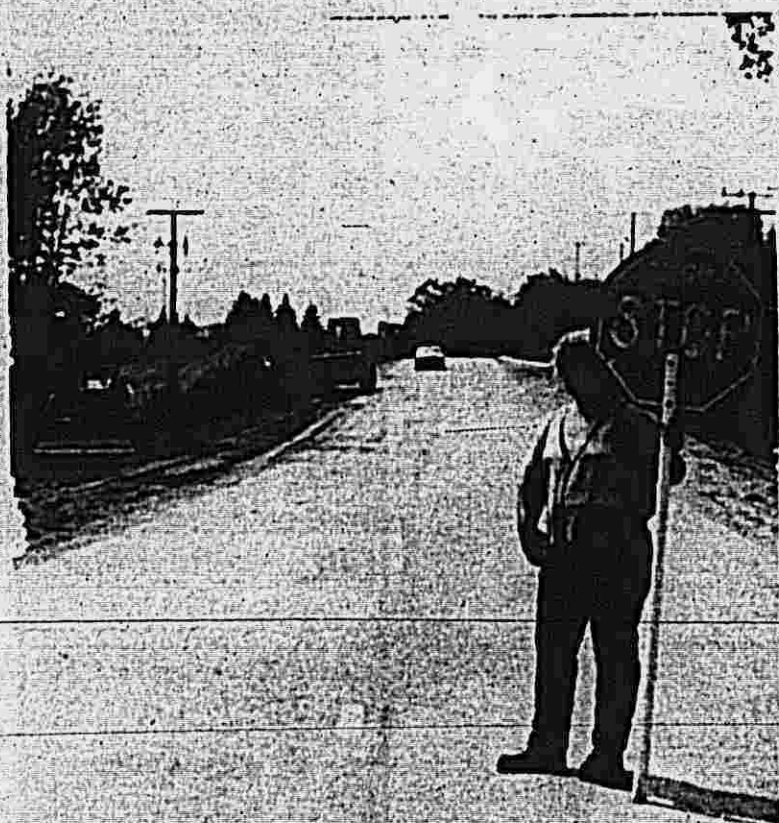

But for now motorists can expect to see men and women holding signs signaling them to stop or to pass slowly while sweaty workers at three areas of the strip work in unison to get the job done.

"This is one of the county's biggest projects," said Martin Buehler, supt. of highways for Lake County, adding that the west end of the road, which was built in the 1950s, is one of the "more rugged" roads in the county.

The road improvement project includes:

- road resurfacing and pavement of shoulders
- extension of the side slopes to shorten the drop
- installation of guard rails along the more steep drops
- installation of gabions (large rocks in a wire basket) to prevent further erosion by the bridge
- drainage improvements

The general contractor for the project is Peter Baker, of Lake Bluff. Sub-contractors are Gluth Brothers, Inc., of Woodstock and Berger Escavating.

Stopping On The Job

Rich Torkelson, 23, an employee of Berger Escavating, of Wauconda, quickly poses at a construction site on Grass Lake Road as a car approaches him from behind. Construction of the two-mile strip is expected to be complete by fall.

Fete Folk Artist

Ed Larson, a Libertyville resident, has achieved national acclaim for his interpretation of the folk art medium. His whimsical whirligigs have a tongue-in-cheek satirical message, often political. Picture quilts of his design relate folk history and relay personal messages. Primitive paintings and Larson's new prints complete the body of work.

Greenfield Village Takes Visitors Back In Time

We were able to walk Barefoot through the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Dearborn, Mich., despite the popular "No Shoes, No Shirt, No Service," sign. It didn't apply in the museum, 'cause Becky Barefoot was our walking guide through these endless displays.

Becky Barefoot is their knowledgeable public relations manager. With 14 acres under roof, the displays seem to go on forever...no one could know it all. Becky is modest in disclaiming detailed knowledge, but her overview projected more than a casual visitor can absorb.

Henry Ford, the originator, had the marvelous foresight to be interested in preserving artifacts not usually found in museums and had the finances to make it a reality.

Henry Ford Museum is the most visited museum in the country except for the Smithsonian. "Competing with the Smithsonian's free admission makes it hard," said Becky. "We offer a chronological overview of how America changed from a rural to an industrial society. The displays trace a period from the 1700s to the 1950s."

Greenfield Village, adjacent to the Henry Ford Museum, is the outdoor phase of this collection. Here on the 240 acres, American history comes to life in restored and appropriately furnished buildings.

Even the staff are clothed for a particular period. They are trained craftsmen performing traditional techniques with glass, pottery, tools and agriculture. Greenfield takes visitors back in time and they return to the 20th century with a new understanding of our nation's progress.

All this is just a walk from the Dearborn Inn, one of world's first air conditioned airport hotels. Built in 1931, it was to accommodate crews and passengers on the famous old Ford Tri-motor planes, which did for aviation what the Model-T did for automobiles.

The inn is now owned by the Ford Motor Company. Each room is different in size and furnishings. Five colonial homes behind the Dearborn Inn have rental rooms and depict 18th and 19th century historical housing. Originally Ford planned 35 homes but WWII demands left them with only five in 1937 when the armament race began.

There are now 179 guest rooms of various sizes on the Dearborn Inn grounds, carefully furnished from earlier periods. The Metropolitan Detroit Visitors Bureau has information on these three interesting stops. A request to them at 100 Renaissance Center, Suite 1950, 48243, will bring an informational cross section for trip planning. Or call the exhibits direct, 800-835-2246.

Another Detroit special is the availability of rental cruisers with crew, for visitors, business meetings and celebrants of special occasions. Located on Lake St. Clair, about 10 minutes from downtown Detroit, there is limo service to and from the docks.

Charters are a half day minimum, the crew does all the rest, getting to whatever destination chosen - cruise, fishing, business meeting, sightseeing - they work it out for the customer. Our short run was on a spanking new 33 foot luxury cruiser with every convenience, including the cabin's see-through glass stern wall and sliding doors. Here again, the Tourism Office will furnish details.

Greece will be one of the ports visited by an estimated 6.4 million Americans traveling Europe this year. However, since the hijacking of TWA's flight 847, and U.S. Government warnings, there has been some reluctance to schedule the Hellenic Isles in planned tours or as a destination.

Athens has beefed up airport security to the point that visitors question the number of protective troops and inquire, 'Why? They are informed, it is Greece's intent to provide all the protection requested. Extra troops do not always reinforce the feeling of tourist safety...sometimes they cause added concern.

Americans constitute about seven percent of the Isles visiting tourists, but provide close to 18 percent of the tourism income. We are looked upon as "big spenders".

In general, Greece feels a closeness to Chicagoland because, as one representative said, Chicago has the third largest Greek population of any city in the world...first, of course, is Athens. Nikos Skoulas, Secy. Genl. of Greek Tourism, extended a personal invitation to Chicagoland travelers. Details are available from the local Greek Tourism office at 168 N. Michigan, Chicago 60601, or (312) 782-1084.

Free island hopping and new air service to the little known Aegean Islands will be offered by the national tourist organization this year, as an added incentive.

Railfan Weekend Set

Remember rumbling down the streets of Chicago, hanging onto the straps of a crowded streetcar, perhaps a "Green Hornet"? Or can you recall the Electroliner, gliding around the Loop elevated before streaking north to Milwaukee?

Nostalgic talk about streetcars, interurbans or steam engines is fine while reminiscing or playing Trivial Pursuit. But why not give someone the opportunity to experience them first hand and to rekindle some fine memories?

All this and more is possible at the Illinois Railway Museum, 60 miles northwest of Chicago in Union, Ill.

Over the Labor Day Weekend, Aug. 31-Sept. 2, the museum will hold its annual Railfan Weekend. Three to five trains will be in operation each day, with various items of the Museum's 220 piece collection being brought into service. Several steam trains will be run Sunday and Monday. Electric and diesel trains will also operate.

Visitors may board the trains at the 1851 Depot for a six-mile roundtrip ride on the mainline or at various points along the trolley loop for a one-mile ride.

The museum's collection of 50 Chicago street railway cars is as extensive and complete a collection as exists for any city. This reputation has recently been enhanced by the CTA's donation of a long rumored, and now confirmed group of five historic streetcars.

The oldest is an 1859 horse car belonging to the North Chicago Street Railway from a time when horsepower really meant "HORSE" power. Many cars have been restored to service, restoration on some continues, while other cars in the collection are stored on over a mile of track inside five large car barns on the museum's 56-acre site.

Member's Weekend, to be held Oct. 5-6, is open to the public, especially railfans and train buffs. Many electric cars will run Saturday, and diesels and steam engines on Sunday. Last year, three steam engines were in operation at once.

The museum grounds open at 11 a.m. and visitors are welcome to use the picnic facilities and explore the collection.

'Piper' To Play Genesee

"Pied Piper," an original musical written and directed by Jeffery Richter, will be presented at the Historic Genesee Theatre in Waukegan on Aug. 23, 24 and 25.

The culmination of the Genesee Theatre's Summer Workshop, the familiar story of the stranger who mysteriously takes away an entire town's population of children, is retold in a modern day setting.

The feelings of the parents and the children that allow the Pied Piper to be successful are interwoven to lively, entertaining and thought-provoking.

Included in the versatile music especially composed for this production is "The Happy Rat Rag," "Council Chamber Cha-Cha," "Mayor's March" and a spirited ballad, "Hamlin Town."

The 35 young people, ranging in age from eight to 16, participating in the workshop have studied theatre from the ground up for the last two months and have experienced the basics of creating a theatrical production, from acting to set construction.

Each performance will be preceded by a theatre organ concert on the newly restored Genesee Barton Pipe Organ.

"Pied Piper" will be presented Friday, Aug. 23, Saturday, Aug. 24 at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday Aug. 25 at 3 p.m. It is produced in association with the Cultural Arts Assn., The Waukegan branch of the Ammerican Assn. of University Women, the Waukegan Park Dist. (Jack-Benny Center) and partially supported by a grant from the Waukegan Area Arts Council in conjunction with the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency.

Tickets are $4 for adults and $2.50 for students and seniors. For tickets or information, please call the theatre box office at (312) 336-0428.

Diet and Exercise Plays a Key Role

by Pat De Angelis

Question - What role does diet and exercise play for the diabetic patient?

Answer: Diet and exercise play a very key role in treating both Type I and Type II diabetes.

There have been several new findings for the treatment of this disease in the last five years. One of the major changes has been in the dose prescribed. Diabetic diets formerly were very low in carbohydrate and high in protein and fat.

The most acceptable diabetic diet now consists of approximately 50 percent of daily calories from complex carbohydrates such as vegetables, fruits, and dried beans including lentils and peas. The other 50 percent of daily calories should be from easily digested animal protein foods and fats. Refined or processed carbohydrate foods should be eliminated for all diabetics.

Type I diabetes, formerly called juvenile diabetes, affects more than a million people in the U.S. This disease indicates the pancreas has stopped producing the insulin necessary to metabolize dietary glucose into body cells for energy utilization. This type needs daily insulin injections to survive.

New advances are improving the methods of insulin injection over the standard daily (often several times a day) injections.

Type II, formerly called adult-onset diabetes, usually strikes people over 40 who often are over-weight and under-exercised. This type of diabetes indicates the pancreas is functioning abnormally by producing an insufficient amount of insulin or the body is unable to use the insulin that it produces.

Approximately ten million people in the U.S. have type II diabetes and many (maybe up to one-half) of these people are unaware and not officially diagnosed. This type often can be treated with diet and oral drugs.

Dr. James Anderson of the University of Kentucky states he can get the majority of Type II diabetics off insulin and can reduce the need for insulin by a third for Type I diabetics with diet and exercise programs. The diet can aid in accepting and utilizing the insulin that is produced by the pancreas.

His diet requires less insulin for the sugar utilization than the average American diet. Regular daily exercise and activity with the properly regulated calorie and food group diet aids again in insulin absorption and utilization.

Pat D's Nutrition Today

Pat DeAngelis is a nutrition therapist at American International Hospital, Zion. Readers with questions about the food and liquid they consume are invited to address questions to Pat D's Nutrition Today, Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, Ill. 60030.

It has been shown that obesity interferes with cellular absorption of insulin, therefore increasing blood sugar levels. Exercise should be moderate and can be gradually increased to effectively aid in cardio-vascular circulation.

Most physicians are now recommending blood sugar levels between 80 milligrams and 120 milligrams on a continued basis. This is a tighter control that can be accomplished because of advances in blood sugar measuring systems. Because of this tighter control the effects of diet and exercise are very noticeable on an individual basis.

Search Underway

The search is underway to find a winner for the 1985 Chicago Area Small Business Award. Sponsored by Arthur Anderson & Co. and the Office for Entrepreneurial Studies at the University of Illinois at Chicago, the competition recognizes the Chicago area's best small business in 1985.

The award was created in tribute to the late Bill Barth, who headed Arthur Anderson & Co.'s Small Business Division for 25 years.

Now in its second year, the award competition seeks businesses that best demonstrate creativity and entrepreneurial skill in meeting the challenges faced by Chicago's small business community. The winner of the award will be honored, through its chief executive officer, at an awards dinner on December 5. The dinner will be attended by the 50 finalists in the competition.

The initial evaluation of nominees will be made by graduate students in the university's entrepreneurial studies area. After the students narrow the list to 50 finalists, a selection committee will choose the winner of the award.

The Time Machine

Ten Years Ago: August 13, 1975

Antioch resident F. James Lumber announced that he wants to be the Democratic candidate for U.S. Congressman, the post now held by Robert McClory, R-Lake Bluff. Lumber said he would become a candidate with or without the recommendation of the Lake County Democratic Party's Candidates Search Committee, a group of about 30 precinctmen who make recommendations to the party's committeemen.

A check for $2,500 was presented by Bill Lucas, of the Lions Club, to Bob Yanca, the owner of Smiley's Corner tavern. Yanca won first prize at a Lions Club picnic. He had his choice of $2,500, a new Chevrolet, Dodge, Pontiac or Ford, or a trip to Paris and Rome plus $1,200.

Antioch youngsters are invited to create a "Bicentennial Them Costume" for the Midnight Madness celebration, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Thirty Years Ago: August 18, 1955

The village board sat in special session in discussion of a three-way problem, concerning drainage. W.H. Curnes of Depot St., owner of land on North Ave., is complaining that Max Horwitz, subdivider of Oakwood Knolls, is channeling water of flood proportions along the south side of North Ave. onto his land.

Antioch Township collector John L. Horan has banked to date more than $250,000 from collection of taxes and has paid to various bodies $156,500 to provide for their current needs in view of late collections.

Antioch's first open air sacred concert will be given by the Community band and the Community chorus at 7 p.m. Sunday at the band stand, Broadway at Orchard Street. Dedicated to the "glory of God," the concert to which everybody is invited is destined to be an annual event.

Fifty Years Ago: August 15, 1935

Thirty-eight husky giants, averaging more than 200 pounds per man; one motor coach; and a bus driver were hauled into the Antioch village hall court room Sunday afternoon on the charge of disturbing the peace, strewn cigarette butts on the highway, accessories to driving an overloaded vehicle on the streets, and 60 to 80 other violations of the Lake County and Antioch code of Blue Laws.

Members of the softball team representing the Channel Lake Athletic Club are bending every effort toward illuminating the spot with electricity for night playing. The new diamond, which will be located at the intersection of Routes 59 and 173, will be called Naber Field.

'Zero Curse' Haunts Office of Presidency

by JOHN STEINKE

With the exceptions of Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe and Ronald Reagan, all of the presidents who have been elected in years ending with zero have died before completing their terms in office. Jefferson (1800) lived for 17 years after leaving the White House, and Monroe (1820) was retired for six years before dying. The 74-year-old Reagan is in the first year of his second term in the White House.

But, beginning in 1840, with William Henry Harrison, and continuing every 20 years through 1960, seven chief executives have failed to survive their administrations. Besides Harrison, the list of "zero" presidents, who have died in office include Abraham Lincoln (1860), James Garfield (1880), William McKinley (1900), Warren G. Harding (1920), Franklin D. Roosevelt (1940) and John F. Kennedy (1960).

Is this merely a coincidence or, as many American Indians believe, the fulfillment of a curse laid upon William Henry Harrison and all subsequent U.S. Presidents elected in a year ending with a zero? Harrison was the first President to die in office. A month after his inauguration, he was stricken with pneumonia and died on April 4, 1841. Many American Indians have learned to hate William Henry Harrison.

In 1801, President John Adams appointed Harrison governor of the Indiana Territory. He disregarded the Indians' territorial rights, and took their lands to expedite white settlement of the area. The Indians resisted and eventually joined forces with the British. In the War of 1812, Major General William Henry Harrison recaptured Detroit from the British.

In October 1813, Harrison defeated the British and their Indian allies, led by the Shawnee chief, Tecumseh, and his brother, the Prophet, in the Battle of the Thames, in Canada. Tecumseh was killed in this battle. Legend has it that the Prophet, who was the Shawnee Shaman, or medicine man, thereupon invoked a curse upon Harrison and the U.S. government.

The curse was that all future American presidents, starting with William Henry Harrison, who were elected in a year whose last digit was a zero, would die in office. The curse, known as "The Indians' Revenge," has developed into a myth.

Steinke On Politics

President John F. Kennedy, who was assassinated on Nov. 22, 1963, was aware of the fateful significance of election years ending with zero. All of the presidential candidates in 1960 were queried as to their opinion of the historic coincidence. JFK joked about the matter, but he admitted that it was "thought provoking."

The last President elected in a zero year was Ronald Reagan in 1980. He is the oldest person ever elected to the White House. He celebrated his 70th birthday only 17 days after his first inauguration on Jan. 20, 1981. Reagan is the only President to survive an assassin's bullet in American history. Recently, he underwent surgery to remove a cancerous tumor from his intestine.

Hopefully, Mr. Reagan will experience a complete recovery from his surgery, and end the 20-year curse on the presidency.

2 Legislatores Scored In New Village Try

Officials of manufacturing concerns in industrial parks located along Rtes. 43 and 41 charged that leaders of a Knollwood incorporation movement are acting without their consent or approval.

Further, they accused two Lake County legislators of being part of a "midnight oil" legislative action to push through the incorporation before neighboring landowners realized what was happening.

If the incorporation move is successful, it could result in the establishment of the Village of Knollwood west of Lake Bluff and south of the City of North Chicago and Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

The proposed village, centered around the exclusive Knollwood Country club, Rtes. 176 and 43, would have a population of 1,800 and contain four square miles.

Opponents of the incorporated accused State Sen. David Barkhausen (R-Lake Forest) and State Rep. Virginia Fiester Frederick (R-Lake Forest) of pushing through 11th hour legislation at the close of the General Assembly.

Barkhausen sponsored an amendment to a Municipal Code bill sponsored by State Rep. William Peterson (R-Prairie View) providing that electors in certain counties may file a petition for incorporation as a village for an area containing at least 1,800, rather than at least 2,500 inhabitants, if the petition is filed within 30 days after the effective date of the act. The amendment also exempts referendum interested highway and a parcel of less than 10 acres may be annexed by a municipality by ordinance.

Mayor Bobby Thompson of North Chicago said he views the legislation as "shutting off" any future westward expansion.

Frederick says the incorporation effort is "protectionist" and that she's been assisting members of the Knollwood Homeowners Assn. in recent years to protect themselves from strip development and proposed high rises.

"Knollwood residents are at the mercy of developers. They had a serious highway expansion problem several years ago that I worked on for them," she declared.

The "go it alone" approach for incorporation was worked out, according to Frederick, after two attempts to annex to Lake Bluff resulted in failure.

The Lake Forest legislator said she had no idea which landowners would be effected, but that she understood Abbott Laboratories was excluded from the proposed village's land map.

Frederick said the Barkhausen amendment is special legislation designed to solve a local problem. The amendment was designed "to die" after Knollwood residents effected their incorporation.

Rep. Frederick

requirements.

One industrial leader called the incorporation attempt "a bald-faced land grab. Knollwood wants to include the industrial area so we can pay for the operation of their new village."

The proposed legislation passed both houses of the General Assembly June 30 and now is waiting for the governor's signature.

The Barkhausen amendment also provides that territory which is bounded by one or more municipalities and an in-

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

What a weekend! The crowd was rolling at the Limerick Saturday night with that great team of Ernie Levas and Bill Damron. They do a fantastic job and everyone had a good time. Of course the food was excellent and people were still chewing on corn at the end of the evening. Al Anderson does a great job every year, making another outside summer event.

The Chicken Bar-B-Q was another success. Those Lions Club members really do put forth for that event. They were putting it together at 7 a.m. and kept on going with cleaning at 9 p.m. President Laddie Korecek felt everything went real smooth and for us spectators we have to agree. The auction was once again a biggy. There were so many things to choose from and buy again this year. People were loading up a real variety - from cars to wooden toys. Too bad we have to wait until next year to do it again!

Did anyone see Bob Deimer over the weekend? On Saturday night he had on a Hawaiian shirt and a sombrero and on Sunday camouflage pants and a PINK shirt! Poor Debbie - You know what they say: you can take the plumber out of the toilet but...

Shirley and Donna Gutowski and Lucille Kuechenmeister had a wonderful visit with Lucille's daughter Wendy Smith in Long Beach, California. Wendy's friend Lee Hill gave them a great tour of California including visits at Marine Land, Venice Beach, Universal Studios and Disneyland. They said they were moving the entire 10 days they were there and had a lot of fun.

Are you all ready for school to begin? It seems I was just saying it was over and baseball season starting. Do not forget to register the 20th and get all of those school supplies! There are good sales all over town and I have got to just take the time to get out and get the expensive project over! We all have to get back in the swing of things and STRUCTURE real home cooking again!

This weekend is Lindenfest Days. On Sunday, is the parade and I am sure we will see some of Antioch in it! Let's enjoy what we have left of summer.

County Schools Get $6.9 Million In Aid

Lake County schools will receive a nearly 7 million increase in state dollars this year over the 1984-85 authorized level of state aid, the regional superintendent of schools has announced.

The $6,935,568 increase in aid is primarily due to an increase in state dollars guaranteed to the districts for each child. The rate increased from $1,841.35 to $1,951.94 per child.

The state determines each district's need for state aid by the difference of local taxes generated for the schools and the amount the state guarantees for each child.

The largest increases in the county go to Waukegan Unit, $1,719,204; Round Lake Unit, $831,834; and the Lake Zurich Unit, $516,815.

State aid decreased at Newport C.C., $1,342; Lincolnshire-Prairie View, $559; and Big Hollow, $31.

The increases and decreases of state aid are primarily based on annual local tax dollars generated for education and enrollment figures, said Sybil Yastrow, assistant regional superintendent of schools.

Declining enrollment figures or more money generated by local taxes will decrease state aid, she said.

Yastrow said most districts have not passed referenda to increase local taxes for schools.

Township GOP Leader Tells McConnell Liking

Waukegan Village Clerk Venita McConnell has gained her second public endorsement from a member of the powerful Lake County Republican Central Committee in her campaign for the GOP nomination for Lake County Clerk in the 1986 elections.

John Bobel, the chairman of the Waukegan Twp. Precinct Committeemen, joins Ela Twp. GOP

Chairman E.A. "Ike" Lusk in expressing support for McConnell's candidacy.

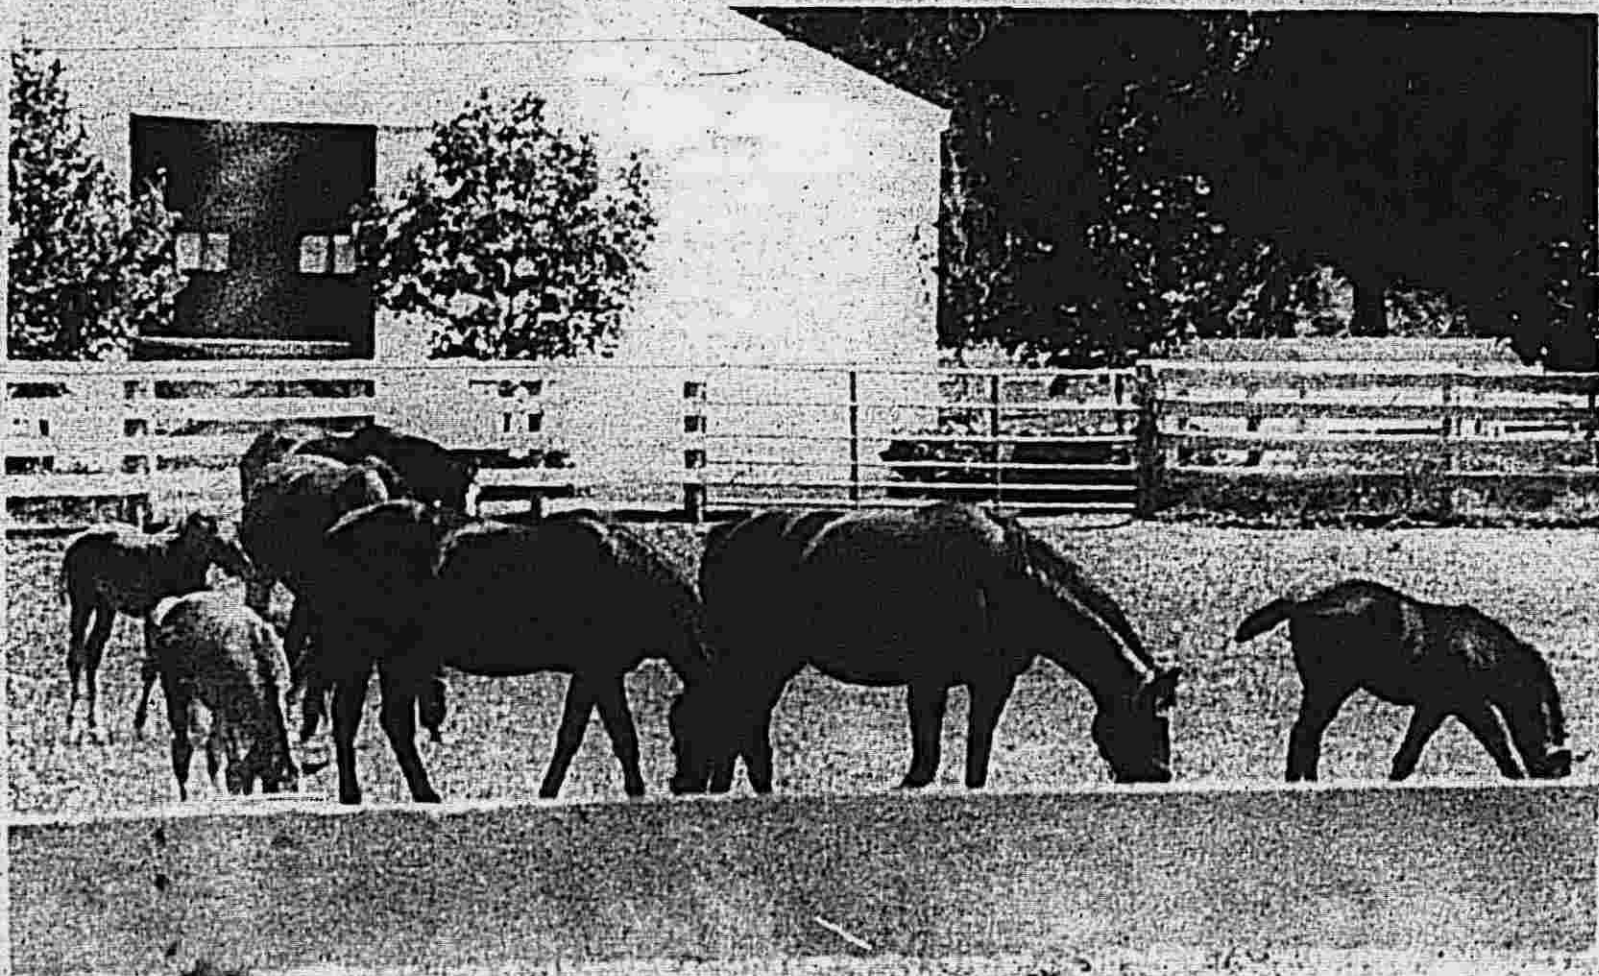

In an exclusive statement to Lakeland Newspapers, Bobel contends, "I am happy to endorse Venita L. McConnell for Lake County Clerk. Her many years of experience in politics has brought her the respect of all Republicans. She is a hard worker. Her service as Waukegan Village Clerk for the past seven years has provided Mrs. McConnell with the necessary experience of running a clerk's office and working with other government officials."

Bobel concludes, "Venita McConnell has expertise in office procedures and management. She also possesses practical experience in the business world, which is a plus for serving as county clerk."

Bobel has been chairman of the Waukegan Twp. Precinct Committeemen for the last four years. He has been a Republican precinct committeeman for 15 years. Bobel has served on election committees for many prominent Republican officeholders including Governor Jim Thompson, Waukegan Mayor Robert Sabonjian and Congressman John Porter.

McConnell is engaged in a tight contest with County Board Rep. Donna-Mae Litwiler of Ingleside.

Question Of Unification

Historically, Illinois has weighed the state school aid formula in favor of consolidated and unit districts on the precept that bigger districts are able to make better use of state funds and, therefore, do a better job of education. While that is arguable, it's a political fact of life that dual district communities come off second best when it comes to state aid.

Now, as part of school reform, the General Assembly has adopted legislation revising the state school aid formula that makes it even more advantageous to unify school districts. The newly adopted legislation brings considerable administrative, financial and educational benefits to unifying districts, especially smaller systems with financial problems.

If ever a community was "ripe" for unification it is Grayslake where both the high school and the grade school are plagued by declining enrollments and money woes. The grade school district has been talking merger for some time with the neighboring elementary district at Avon Center, which has been battling budget headaches for years. A large number of people in both districts support consolidation, an on-and-off issue for 10 years. Adding a new dimension to the consolidation theory is the proposal that the high school should get involved to make the amalgamation a unit plan.

Sources in educational circles point out that a unit district would receive between $600,000 and $700,000 more in state aid under the new formula. From the viewpoint of Grayslake Grade School, merger is more pressing than ever because the district has just lost its superintendent, in no small part to a worsening financial picture that seems unsolvable. It makes sense for the two neighboring districts, even while the merger question is debated, to take a cooperative step by sharing a superintendent.

Avon has a new superintendent, David Duffy, with no ties to the past, who might serve as the catalyst for consolidation while saving both districts administrative costs if the two districts would agree on sharing his services. There is local precedent for sharing a school superintendent with the current Grass Lake-Lotus dual superintendency.

Even while we're the first to admit that bigger might not be better as far as education goes, it certainly is more lucrative. Springfield mandates that, and when local districts ignore this, they pay through the nose.

Police Chief And Politics

The shenanigans involving the position of Fox Lake chief of police indicates that when it comes to job security the position of police chief is only slightly more secure than that of managing a major league baseball team.

Fox Lake Chief Robert Trinski is on his way out not because he was doing a bad job but probably because he was doing too good a job. Citizen reaction to plans announced by Mayor William Dam overwhelmingly indicates support of the long-time resident who has served as chief for six years.

In attempting to calm the frayed nerves of irate citizens, Trinski found himself in the ungainly position of defending Mayor Dam, pointing out that a chief serves "at the pleasure" of the mayor whether the municipality is big or small. The mayor, returning the favor, unstintingly praised the career law enforcement officer.

If all this sounds confusing, it's because it is confusing. The firing of a police chief—and hiring—usually only makes sense after a careful study of the politics of the situation. In Fox Lake's case, there's plenty of politics. Trinski incurred the wrath of Village Trustee Margaret Paull—an exponent of "bulldozer"-style public administration. The soft-spoken chief also displeased Trustee Leonard Dam, the mayor's brother. Together, Paull and Leonard Dam made an unsuccessful attempt to oust Trinski long before William Dam was elected. Now that the village council has an "all in the family" coloration, putting the skids under Chief Trinski was a lot easier.

It's no wonder that Illinois lawmakers put into place many years ago legislation to protect police officers from petty politics. But the police chief's job was excluded.

Difficult as it is to swallow for citizens, trying to save the job of a police chief is a losing proposition—once he falls out of favor, for whatever reason, with the powers to be. That's the way the system works. All chiefs know that. It's a lonely life. The only satisfaction for the select few citizens with courage and ability to don the chief's badge is knowing that you've done your best to serve your community. If only the elected officials with power of life and death over a police chief could appreciate that fact

by BILL SCHROEDER

Relaxed, confident, open.

That's the tone for conversation with Lake County Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox, nearing the end of his first term, one of the most durable political figures in the history of Lake County and at age 58 acknowledged as his party's elder statesman.

As the county's No. 1 law enforcement officer and holder of the county's most powerful political office, Babcox is surprisingly laid back, running the office in a low key manner and maintaining a low personal profile. This is a direct opposite to two previous sheriffs of recent vintage, "Pistol Pack'en" Orville S. "Pat" Clavey and Tom Brown, who was always ready for a television appearance with his knack for keeping himself and the sheriff's office in hot water.

Wearing a soft cotton sports shirt and summer slacks, the sheriff leaned back and chuckled in responding to this writer's question about the serenity surrounding the sheriff's office these days. "We've got good people and they're doing their job," Sheriff Babcox observed. "Maybe it's my advanced age," he added to punctuate his self-effacing image.

Your columnist and the sheriff smoothly disposed of the immediate business at hand—the question of whether the sheriff's office botched an investigation of the mechanics and the personalities involved in the controversy swirling around the proposal for the Lake County Forest Preserve District to purchase Brae Loch Country Club.

The sheriff quickly explained that his office became involved at the request of an attorney for the Forest Preserve Dist. for background information. "It wasn't a full investigation and it wasn't meant for public consumption. We get requests like that all the time. The Brae Loch check was routine. I agree that it's gotten out of hand."

The purchase of Brae Loch has become a political issue, Babcox pointed out. "Our office doesn't belong in this one."

OK.

Does the sheriff's office belong in the county clerk's race? Mickey's blue eyes twinkled and he came back with the "aw shucks" response perfected in nearly 40 years in the public eye. The sheriff knows full well that he has been identified as the mentor and sponsor of the candidacy of County Board Rep. Donna-Mae Litwiler for the Republican nomination for county clerk in 1986.

"Now you know that no one tells Donna-Mae what to do. She asked me what I thought about her running for county-wide office and I said, 'Sure, why not, if that's what you want to do'."

That question attended to—and my order placed for a lot in the Everglades—we turned to another political question that is being asked more and more.

Are you heading for a showdown with County GOP Chairman Bob Neal?

Mickey fielded this Astroturf bounce with aplomb. "Not in the least. I think we get along fine. Bob Neal has a tough job to do. The only thing I want to do is run the best possible sheriff's office I can." Aw shucks! It's difficult to forget that Litwiler challenged Neal for the chairman's job last time and that the highly ambitious disaffiliated politician has been the sheriff's "point man" on more than one occasion on the County Board.

The Sheriff

Unflappable, easy going, Lake County Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox is the picture of a man who is good at what he is doing and enjoys himself. "I just want to be a good sheriff," Babcox responds to critics who say that he is building his own political machine.

Politics aside, Babcox's administration is the first one within memory that has operated this long untouched by scandal. The present Lake County sheriff's office is a nut and bolts law enforcement agency. Gambling and nude bars have been shutdown. The sheriff is doing as well or better dealing with dope traffic than any other agency. He even has a new wrinkle for dealing with pornography—on the spot justice in the form of a judge who will accompany his raiders.

The sheriff said his only real problem is lack of manpower. "We're still undermanned, but that's a budget problem." This comment brought up the subject of one of Babcox's long-time protagonists, County Board Rep. Norman Geary who is chairman of the finance committee.

"Norm and I don't have any real problems. Oh, we don't see eye to eye on everything, but we get along." Aw shucks. Make that two lots in the Everglades, please.

Thanks for stopping by, sheriff. Let's get together again soon.

Who's Who?

In Lindenhurst, some of Mayor Bob Ratch's supporters are wondering why Janet Kapischke sought his support in her unsuccessful 1984 campaign to recapture her seat on the Lake County Board. In an interview with Lakeland Newspapers, Kapischke accused Ratch of being "a demagogue" and "a do-nothing mayor." She claimed that Ratch's efforts to secure a fire substation for Lindenhurst represented a desperate political attempt to insure his reelection to a second four-year term in 1987. Mrs. Kapischke was a member of the Lake County Board from 1978-1982. One year ago, she was defeated for the County Board in the Republican primary by incumbent Jim Fields of Antioch and Fred Popp of Lake Villa. In 1983, Ratch easily defeated 17-year incumbent Mayor Ted Flanagan in a three-way contest. Does Mrs. Kapischke's assessment of Mayor Ratch represent the sentiment of the Village?

Hog Caller

The revelation that Dist. 4 County Board Rep. Donna-Mae Litwiler used the name of Regional School Supt. William Thompson without his permission casts a serious cloud over the creditability of her candidacy for the Republican nomination for County Clerk in the 1986 primary. Litwiler is going to have to do some explaining. It will be interesting to see how the little dynamo from Ingleside handles Thompson's disavowal. Donna-Mae never is at a loss for words so it's a foregone conclusion that she'll have plenty to say about the highly respected county school administrator. But will Litwiler's words mean anything? Perhaps she will resort to her best hog calling chant, a talent displayed every year at the Lake County Fair. This would surprise electors from Dist. 4—Antioch, Lake Villa, Grant and Avon townships—who sent Litwiler to Waukegan to represent them, only to hear from her at county fair time.

On Peak Alert days, it pays to use less.

What is a Peak Alert?

On Peak Alert days (like the hottest days of summer) there's an extra-high demand for electricity. And this demand tests our ability to provide the energy you need.

If we announce a Peak Alert, it means we already have our thrifty coal and nuclear generators on the job. But even they can't provide enough electricity to meet everyone's needs. So we must also use generators that run on oil to meet the additional demand.

Unfortunately, some fuels are more expensive than others. Oil-produced power costs about four times more than nuclear-generated power. And all of us pay for that extra fuel expense in our electric bills.

You can lower your energy bills this summer.

Every summer day, and especially when we've issued a Peak Alert, adopt some of these energy-saving, money-saving habits:

If you stay indoors:

- Set your air conditioner at 78° or higher.
- Keep your curtains closed so the sun's hot rays will stay outside.
- Wash your clothes and run your dishwasher on a cool day.
- Use all large appliances before 9 AM or after 10 PM.
- Open your refrigerator only when necessary.

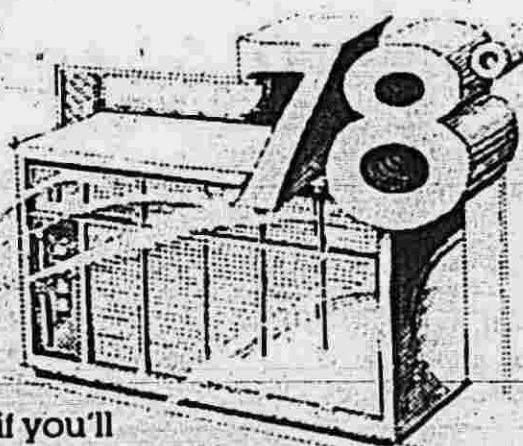

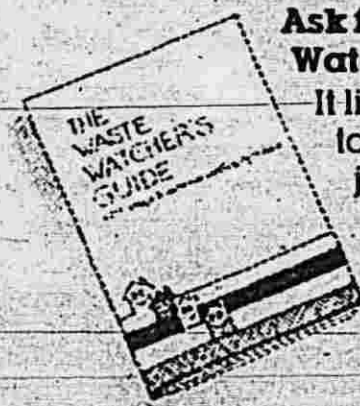

Switch to outdoor activities.

- Head to the beach or find a refreshing pool.
- Dry your clothes outdoors. Added humidity inside your house only makes your air conditioner work harder.
- Cook on charcoal (instead of the stove). Or don't cook at all—try a light sandwich or salads.

Ask for our free Waste Watcher's Guide.

It lists 101 things you can do to save energy every day, if you'll just switch your habits. For your copy, write:

And in the meantime, remember that when there's a Peak Alert, it pays to use less.

Young Rider Lives For Competition

by DONNA DUNCAN

Training for the American Continental Young Riders Championship at Tempel Farms in Wadsworth this weekend has been a touch-and-go situation for Lisa Dreher, 20, a competitor, as her horse had been nursing a leg injury the past few weeks.

Dreher will compete in the Three-Day Eventing category which consists of dressage, a ballet-like performance, a cross country phase and a stadium phase.

Dreher, who has competed in various competitions before, had been faced with disappointment of an injured horse. "It is a setback. I don't know if he's going to be in good shape," Dreher said.

For this year's competition, she will be riding nine-year-old Charley's Memory, or Chas, as she calls him. Since her own horse, Whiskey River, "Willie" had also sustained a leg stress fracture in a Young Rider's competition last March in Pennsylvania, she is borrowing Chas from her boyfriend in Virginia.

Because of its injured legs, Dreher is not setting her hopes too high. "I'm not going to make time — just make a clear round with no penalties," she said.

This is important, she adds, because a first stop is worth 20 penalty points.

Dreher works her horse at her family's stable in Lake Villa, where they have lived for more than a year, after moving from Deerfield.

Both of her parents, Sam and Linda also ride. Dreher, who has been riding since age five, has grown up with horses and has always been interested in them as a hobby. She started out being taught by her mother, but learned under outside instructors for "unbiased" critique. Even while away at college in Virginia, she rides often. While away, she had an opportunity to train under a top rider "I took a few lessons with Lisa Anderson, who won the preliminary division at Rollex, Kentucky in the Three-Day Eventing.

Although she has never been over this particular course at Wadsworth, she is prepared to handle it. "I know what to expect but haven't been over the fences. It's moderate in difficulty," she said.

Dreher's first mini-trial was when she was eight years old. She got eliminated in two out of three phases but she has progressed into a fine rider and will be competing with young riders from across the country and the world at this weekend's Championship. Her teammates at this competition are Kim Wallace of Lincolnshire and Jill Hoffman, of St. Charles.

One of her former instructor's, James H. Hunter, of Gurnee, said Dreher is "very advanced for her age and handles big shows very well," adding, "she is an educated rider."

While observing Dreher maneuvering her mother's horse in jumping, Hunter said she rides the horse in a forward motion with flexion with inside hipbone, inside leg and hand and she gets the horse to bend.

This is how horses should be handled in a jumping event, he said.

The purpose of working the horse over the jumps is to build bounce in the animal.

Dreher has been a member of the Pony Club is is currently at the second highest level.

Out of the three days, the most exciting for Dreher is the endurance day which includes a steeple chase.

Training horses takes a lot of work and the Dreher's raise their show horses from scratch, as ponies. This is so the animal will trust its owner faster.

This hobby takes a lot of time and work but Dreher doesn't mind. "People think we're crazy sometimes. But once you're bitten with competition you fall in love with it," she said.

"I guess I grew up being competitive. I like doing well. It feels good seeing a horse do good, knowing that with a little help here and there, you can bring a horse along from nothing."

The horse competition season begins around the end of May or early June and lasts through October. To train for this event, when the horse is in good health, she trains him twice a day for 45 minutes to one hour. The second time consists of a walk. The main workout is in the morning. With Chas, she had given him penicillin in the morning for his legs for a while.

A typical practice session includes improving the dressage routine, which she considers the most difficult phase in Three-Day Eventing.

After taking lessons in jumping, she feels more confident and now the horse practices the skill once a week. Both horse and Dreher take one day off a week.

In all her years of riding, she has been lucky by not getting hurt except for last year when she broke her collarbone after falling off her horse during a competition.

"I learned a valuable lesson. I was getting ahead of my horse. Now I know to sit and wait," she said.

Dreher first attended a hunter school in Virginia but decided it was too much into hunting. She has found her niche riding in the Three-Day Eventing which is a complete test for horse and rider.

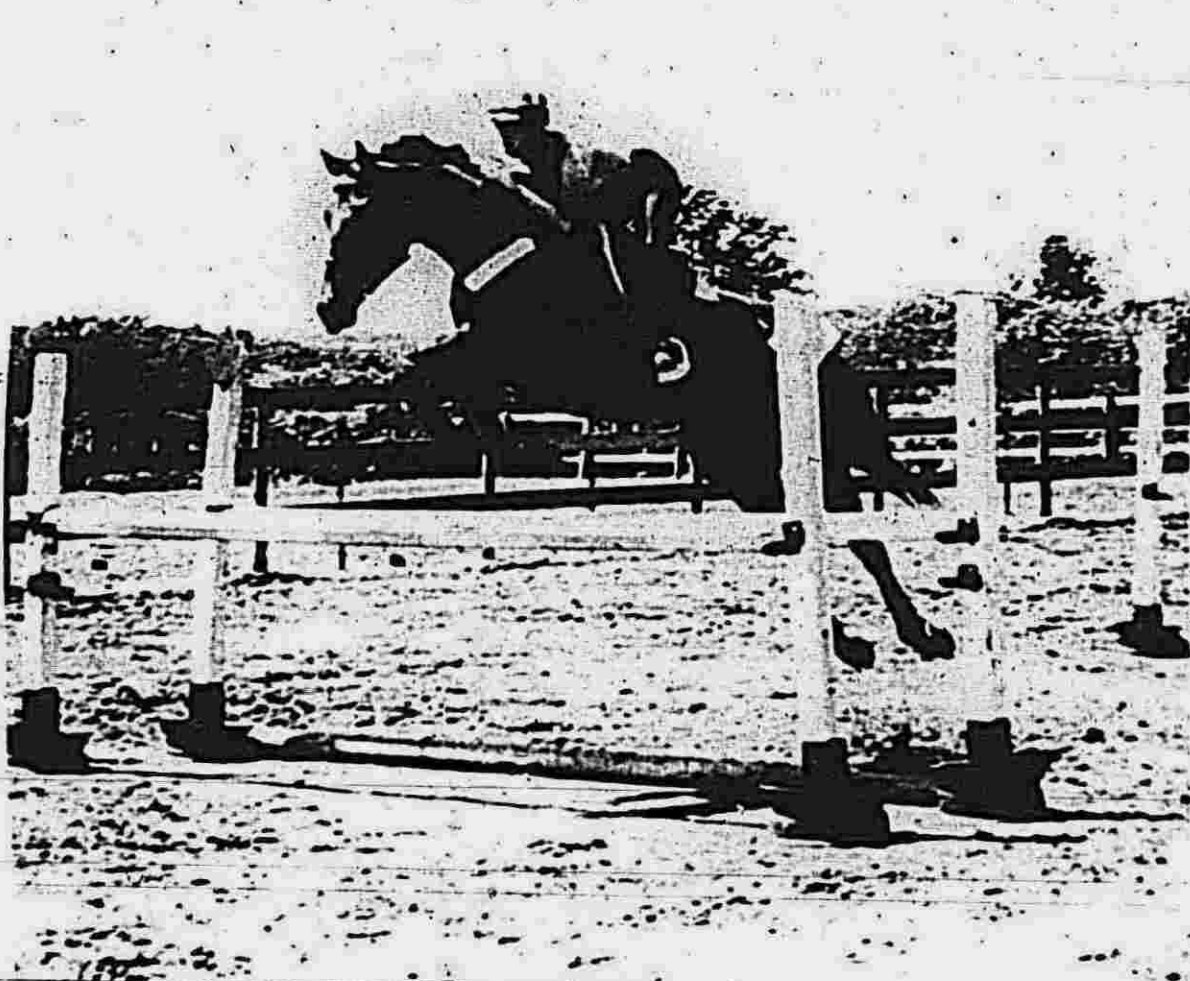

Dreher's choice for horses is the smaller build but it also has to have strong, solid bones in order to compete well.

This pre-business major plans to finish school and enter the business field. She is uncertain whether she will apply her major to the horse business but is sure she will be riding horses all her life.

During the summers, Dreher spends every weekend either competing or going to horse training school. Sometimes, she teaches lessons.

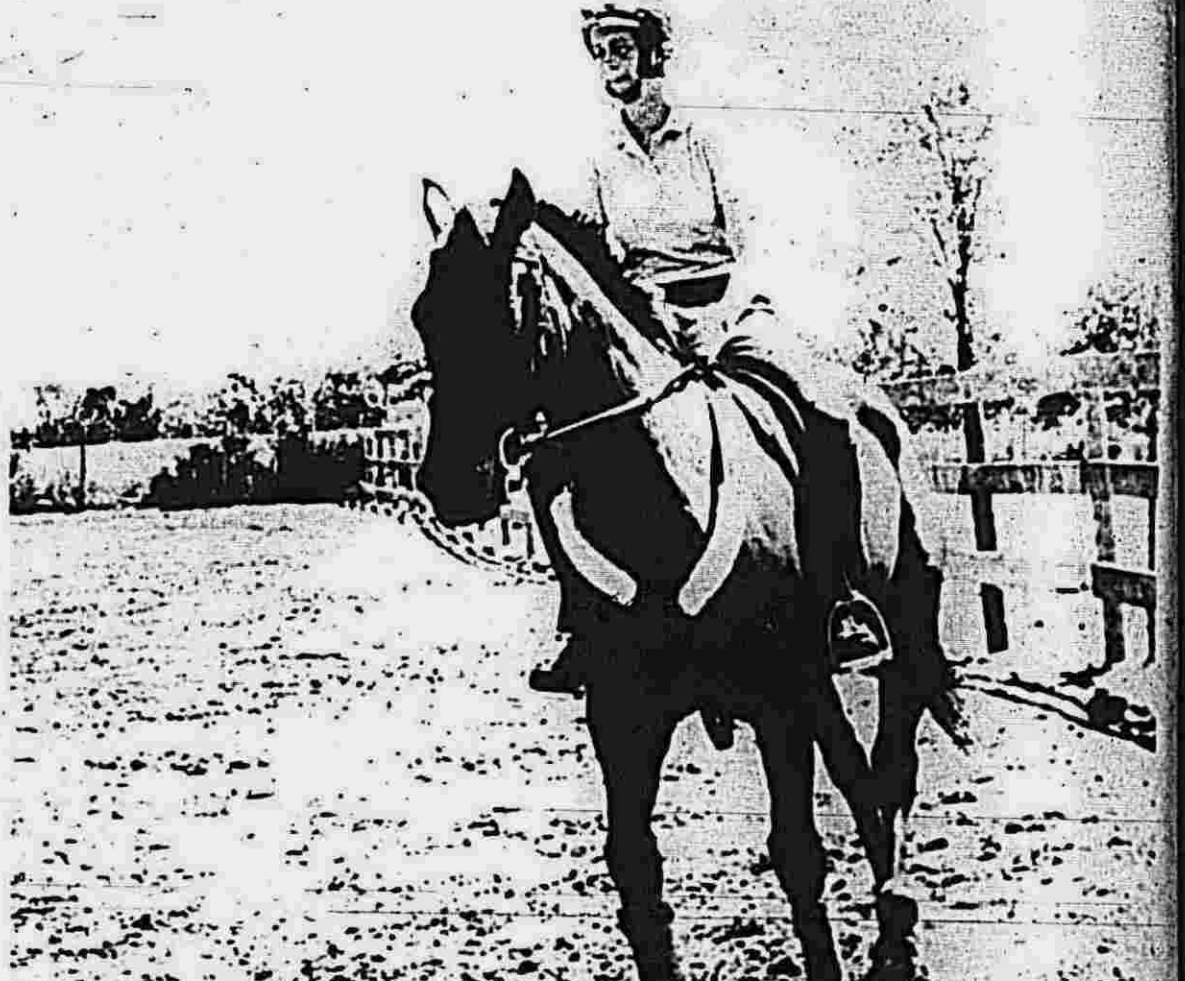

"I don't know what got me so hooked. As a kid, I loved having people tell me that they liked my horse."

Next year, she hopes to move up to a higher level and she is practicing for that now by working with Major Bela Buttykay, a dressage judge who had qualified to jump horses on the Olympic team.

EYEWEAR, NO LONGER A NECESSITY?

EYE SURGERY WHICH TAKES PLACE WHILE THE PATIENT SNOOZES IN AN OUTPATIENT CENTER NOW OFFERS THE REALISTIC HOPE OF REMOVING EYEGGLASS DEPENDENCY FOR MANY WHO ARE UNCOMFORTABLE WITH CONTACT LENSES OR WHO SEEK FREEDOM FROM EYEWEAR FOR PERSONAL OR PROFESSIONAL REASONS.

THESE SURGICAL TECHNIQUES, FIRST USED IN THE U.S.S.R. AND IN COLUMBIA, CAUSE BETTER FOCUSING OF LIGHT WITHIN THE EYE BY RESHAPING THE CORNEAL WINDOW.

IN THE SOVIET TECHNIQUE (FYODOROV), CALLED RADIAL KERATOTOMY, HALF MILLIMETER-DEEP RADIAL CUTS GOING FROM THE PUPIL'S EDGE TOWARD THE WHITE PORTION ALLOW A NATURAL FLATTENING EFFECT ON THE CENTRAL CORNEA TO OCCUR.

REFINED IN THE U.S.S.R. SINCE 1973 AND IN THE UNITED STATES SINCE 1978, MORE THAN 100,000 KERATOTOMIES HAVE BEEN PERFORMED WORLD-WIDE.

SEVERAL U.S. STUDIES HAVE RECONFIRMED ITS SAFETY AND HIGH EFFECTIVENESS, THOUGH SOME RARE, SERIOUS COMPLICATIONS HAVE OCCURRED.

KERATOTOMY CORRECTS NEARSIGHTEDNESS AND ASTIGMATISM.

IN THE COLUMBIAN TECHNIQUE (BARRAQUER), THE SURGEON USES HIGH-TECH EQUIPMENT TO REMOVE A QUARTER-MILLIMETER-THICK CONTACT LENS-SHAPED WAFER FROM THE FRONT EYE WALL.

THIS PROCEDURE, WHICH HAS A 25 YEAR TRACT RECORD, CORRECTS FARSIGHTEDNESS AS WELL AS NEARSIGHTEDNESS BEYOND THE RANGE OF KERATOTOMY.

Garden Party Ends Season

More than 150 children attending the last week's sessions of "Project Aware," the annual Fort Sheridan day camp for Lake County children, were guests at a gala garden party on Aug. 1, featuring cookies, lemonade, volleyball, frisbies, games and contests.

Music was provided by members of the 4th Army Band on the lakefront lawn of the residence occupied by Lt. General Edward C. Peter, commanding general of the Fourth U.S. Army, where his wife Jean was hostess.

The Peter's residence and grounds are the best-known quarters at Fort Sheridan. Originally constructed more than 90 years ago to be the home of the "post commander," it has been traditionally assigned to the installation's highest-ranking officer and his family.

Incorporating some of the most elegant architectural innovations of its day, the home remains of special interest for visitors as an integral structure in Fort Sheridan's National Historic Landmark designation.

The event marked the end of the six-week camping season at Fort Sheridan, sponsored by the Lake County Community Action Project (LCCAP), with the cooperation of the installation's Equal Employment Opportunity Office.

More than 900 children each had a full week of day camp at the Army post over the summer. "Project Aware" was instituted 15 years ago to provide youngsters of low-income Lake County families with a camp experience they might otherwise never have. The camp has been continued ever since.

Under the direction in 1985 of Kenneth Robinson, economic coordinator for LCCAP, its buses picked up the children from specific communities each day in the early morning and returned them at about 3 p.m. after a full day of recreational, athletic and social activities. Typically, the children were divided into groups ages 6-11 and 12-18, with daily activity schedules matched to suit their interests. Swimming, gymnastics, bowling, outdoor sports, arts and crafts, plus visits to the post museum, MP station, and the dental clinic were all part of the schedule.

Counseling and "rap sessions" covered such diverse topics as human relations, drug and alcohol abuse, hygiene, nutrition, family relations, family planning and safety, usually led by volunteer professional staff personnel and Fort Sheridan officers.

Noon meals were served each day at the post Consolidated Dining Facility. As with all other expenses, funding was provided by LCCAP.

As the "garden party" drew to a close, Robinson expressed gratitude to the many Fort Sheridan staff people who made themselves available to the campers throughout the six-week day camp period.

"It would be nice if it was a longer season. There are still plenty of kids who would enjoy an experience like this," he declared.

Some Of Best Dogs From Animal Shelters

by CHARLENE WHITNEY

If you are looking for a dog or cat that is a baby or grown and is mixed or full blood-bred, there are many places to look. Some go to the pet stores or the newspaper ads.

Have you thought to check out your local animal shelter and did you know that they have all of the above and even purebreds?

Many people believe that these pets are there as someone's leftovers. This is far from the truth. These are animals that need a home and someone to love. They are more likely to earn your trust, and want your love faster, than most because they don't have it now and might not have ever had it.

The fee for these animals is so small. It covers veterinarian checks and spaying or neutering. Often, you are given a leash and collar and told that if the animal doesn't work out, they will give you another to try. These people want the animal happy and healthy and in the right home that can in turn love it. Do the ads and pet stores offer the same or is it just high prices and chances?

Judy Klos and her family shared a very special story with me that I would like to pass on. They now have a dog named Kelly and she is three years old. The part Golden Setter and Springer Spaniel is of medium size of about 48 pounds with black hair and a caramel colored face.

Her story began about 18 months ago when they had to put their old dog to sleep. There are six kids living in the Klos house and they were all very sad over the loss of their dog.

One day after being in Deerfield, Judy asked her kids if they would like to stop in and look at the animals in Orphans of the Storm. They didn't really have another dog in mind just yet but felt like looking. They saw a lot of wonderful dogs and then it happened. The family saw Kelly looking at them with those bright eyes of joy.

They asked the shelter to hold the dog until the father of the family could come out and see her. Before everyone knew it, Kelly was on the way home!

The Klos family had paid $25 for their dog and was told that if she didn't work out to bring her back and they could try another dog. However, the fee was not refundable. To the vet's surprise, she had been spayed. The fee would have paid for this, too. The shots were included for rabies and distemper, plus a collar and leash were provided.

On the way home, the family discovered that Kelly loves car rides. However, the nights started out with the dog bed next to Judy's bed. A few weeks later, Kelly decided to sleep in the kids' bedrooms, where she woke them each morning to get ready for school.

Kelly loves to play with the kids and a game of ball or frisbee is right up her alley. She loves to run and meet the school bus when the kids come home.

This family pet even learned a couple of tricks. She can shake hands and speak on command.

Judy says, "Kelly is an excellent dog, great with the kids, gentle, and has never damaged anything."

It looks like this family and this dog have found their needs are fulfilled. Remember it all came about because this family stopped in to check out the pets at the animal shelter.

Pet-Wise

Kelly had only been in the shelter for two or three days. The first family she belonged to had taught the dog to come on command and to sit on command. Housebreaking was already done and she never chewed. One could easily see that she had been well-groomed and well-cared for. Many of the dogs are not as lucky as Kelly.

Long Ball Hitters To Compete Aug. 17

The City of Waukegan and the Waukegan Baseball Assn. are issuing a challenge to all area "Long Ball Hitters" to show off their home run hitting skills in the First Ever Waukegan Long Ball Contest. The contest, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 17, at Waukegan's Bowen Park, will offer area home hitters the opportunity to meet their competition head-to-head in Lake County's only organized home run derby competition.

Bob Dernier, centerfielder for the Chicago Cubs, will act as master of ceremonies for the contest. Dernier, whose appearance is being provided courtesy of Waukegan Tire and Supply, Co., will also be available to greet fans during a free autograph session.

"The Waukegan Long Ball Contest is a team competition, featuring an open division, female only division, over 35 years old division and an industrial division," Ralph Bufano, Waukegan Long Ball Contest Chairman, explained. "The teams in each of the four divisions are limited to four members, with each member hitting three baseballs during the competition. Contest participants need only bring their powerful home run swings as our committee will provide bats, baseballs and a batting 'T'." Bufano added.

"We're looking for all of Lake County's long ball hitters to come forward and participate in this home run exhibition," Bufano said.

"Each of the participating teams will receive 12 baseballs to hit from a batting 'T' placed at home plate. The team hitting the most home runs or the longest ball will be declared the winner. Awards will be presented to each member of the winning team in each of the four divisions," he added.

Admission to the Waukegan Long Ball Contest, which is $3 for adults and $1.50 for children 11 years old and younger, will entitle Lake County baseball fans entry to the home run exhibition plus the Continental Amateur Baseball Assn. World Series game, which will follow the contest.

Northwest Loop To Start Sept. 8

Two teams will be representing the Lakeland area in the Northwest Football League. They are the Grayslake Colts and the Warren Township Packers.

Registration for the Grayslake Colts was held last Saturday from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. If you missed last Saturday's sign-up date, you will still be allowed to join the team.

Fifty boys already have signed up, and the coaches were hoping to have around 100 boys for the Colts. Head coach Henry Sneyd is hoping for a big turnout.

Practices are held at Woodview School. The practice schedule is as follows: Before school starts players will practice five days a week for 1 1/2 to 2 hours. During school, players will practice three times a week for about 1 1/2 hours.

Players kick-off their season Sept. 8. Teams that will be faced in league play this year are: Cary Grove Trojans, Crystal Lake Raiders, Lake Zurich Flames, Warren Township Packers, Waukegan Merchants, and Zion Zee-Bee's.

If you have any questions concerning the Grayslake Colts, contact Henry, or Betty Sneyd at (312) 223-4135 for further information.

Freshmen Football

Incoming freshmen at Round Lake Senior High School who are interested in joining football should attend the first practice at 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 14, at the high school. All physicals and insurance waivers must be turned in prior to the practice.

Farina Believes In His Gymnastic Ability

by DAN G. O'SHEA

Gymnastics is a year-round sport for Mike Farina. The Mundelein High School student, second in the state last winter in the all-around event, has tried to practice every day this summer. "I work out three or four hours a day when I get a chance," he said.

Farina was rated as one of the best in the state in his event but his runnerup finish was still somewhat of a surprise because he was just a sophomore.

He said he is looking forward to the next two years of competition and thinks he may be capable of taking first in state, both his junior and senior years.

All-around means the gymnast competes in all six events with the scores com-freshman year.

Farina does not rate any particular event as his best but says he has to work a little harder on his floor exercise than on any of the others.

He commented that he was a little surprised by his high rank because of a bad start last season, but had set his sights on a high finish.

Farina's grandmother said she wasn't surprised by his high finish and thought he was quite capable of it.

Dolphins Seeking Members

The Camp Duncan Dolphin Swim Team is actively seeking new members for its 1985/86 competitive season, which begins in October. The Dolphins accept swimmers between the ages of six and 18 years who have passed beginning swimming.

The Camp Duncan YMCA will offer a Pre-season Stroke Clinic beginning Sep. 13, and will run on Friday afternoons and Saturday mornings for seven weeks.

The clinic will offer instruction on stroke techniques, starts, turns and conditioning, and will enable swimmers to see and learn what a swim team is all about before joining the Dolphins in October.

Sign-up for the seven-week Stroke Clinic starts Aug. 26 for members at a cost of $20. Non-member sign-up will start Sep. 3 at a cost of $30.

If you would like more information on the Dolphins or the Stroke Clinic, please call Camp Duncan YMCA at (312) 546-6116.

Frontier History Lives At Show

The days of flintlocks and fur trading will return at the All-Midwest Hunting and Outdoor Show, opening August 29 at the Lake County Fairgrounds.

Members of the Smoky Hollow Muzzle Loaders will camp frontier-style on the grounds for all five days of the Show, offering instruction in blacksmithing, flint and steel campfire building, open fire cooking and other frontier skills. They'll also present demonstrations of early American firearm techniques Saturday, August 31 through Monday, September 2 at noon.

"Our encampment at the Show will be completely primitive," said Dick Mendenhall, the group's range officer. "We'll be living in authentic teepees and lean-to's. We'll prepare all of our meals over open campfires, using recipes dating back several hundred years. And we'll dress in clothing authentic to the period from 1720 to 1860, carrying muskets, flintlock and percussion rifles, period shotguns and pistols."

No flashlights? No sleeping bags? "We're not cutting any corners," he insisted. "It'll be a re-enactment of an actual hunters' rendezvous, just like the one our club holds every September."

"Each of our members makes probably 90 to 95 percent of their equipment," Mendenhall observed, "and as a result we maintain a number of crafts that for all intents and purposes have been forgotten — blacksmithing, meat drying, and quill work, for example. One of our members even went to an Indian reservation to teach quill work."

The group meets for a "shoot" the first Sunday of every month, at the West Bend-Barton Sportsman's Club north of West Bend, Wisconsin. "Our shoots consist of five to six matches, and are open to the public," Mendenhall said. "We hold primitive matches, in which we compete to split rifle balls on an axe head, and that type of thing. We alternate these with contemporary, paper target matches."

The shoots take place rain or shine — even in the dead of winter. "I have to admit, though, that our January shoot is attended by about ten to fifteen hardy souls who duck inside frequently for hot coffee," he confesses. Although the Smoky Hollow Muzzle Loaders describe themselves as "a non-profit club dedicated to the use and preservation of muzzle-loading firearms," the guns themselves are only a part of the club's allure.

"It's our way of escaping the high-tech society we have to deal with Monday through Friday," Mendenhall explained. "It's independence, it's freedom. And there's no clock to watch."

Other attractions at the All-Midwest Hunting and Outdoor Show include hunting dogs and accessories, sporting arms, decoys, collectibles, archery equipment, game birds, black powder and other displays of interest to the outdoorsman. Contests, a trap range, an archery range, and more than 30 free seminars and demonstrations will also be featured.

Show hours are: Aug. 29 and 30, noon to 7 p.m.; Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Sept. 2, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults, $2.50 for children six to 12, and free for children aged five and under.

The Lake County Fairgrounds are located at the intersection of Illinois Highway 120 and Rte. 45, four miles west of I-94.

For more information, write: All-Midwest Hunting & Outdoor Show, 2400 East Devon Ave., Suite 205, Des Plaines, Ill. 60018. Telephone: (312) 299-3131.

Tourney Seeks Entries

More teams are being sought for a 12-inch, non-classic slowpitch softball tournament being sponsored by U.S. Cable of Lake County, the Miller Brewing Co. and SportsVision.

The event will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 17-18, and the deadline for entries is Thursday, Aug. 15.

Games will be played at Dugdale and Belvidere parks in Waukegan. Tournament Director Dave Logan has indicated that 19 teams have already entered, from throughout Lake County and Kenosha, Wis.

It will be a double-elimination event and according to Logan, trophies, cash, jackets and an assortment of other prizes will be awarded.

Teams interested in entering can call Logan at (312) 336-7200.

Lakeland area teams started varsity football practice on Aug. 12, preparing for what everybody hopes to be an exciting 1985-86 campaign.

Round Lake

Head Coach Mike Dunn conducted his first team practice at night, from 6:30-8:30 p.m. He hopes to see a lot of kids out for the team this year, as he anticipates that there will be no cuts made for this year's varsity squad.

Carmel

Carmel Head Coach Jim Rejc has had his troops working hard with double sessions throughout the first week of practice. Equipment pick-up for the Corsairs started on Aug. 9.

Wauconda

Wauconda High School Head Football coach Fred Loffredo was looking forward to meeting with returning players and new recruits for the football team on the first day of practice on Aug. 12. He said he will be using a certain philosophy regarding offense that is different than what was used by former coach Len Slatta. Loffredo will depend on the caliber of his players and will not use the option type of offense, used by last year's coach.

Warren High School

The Warren Twp. High School football team began practice on Monday, Aug. 12 getting ready for the 1985-86 football season. Football Coach Reggie Hughes had the team out working hard getting in shape for the upcoming season.

Paddock, Fey Win

Lake County was represented well as Cherie Paddock of Grayslake, and Ed Fey of Wildwood won titles in the 1985 Illinois Farm Bureau State Golf Tournament at

GCHS High School

The Grayslake Community High School football team began practicing for the 1985-86 football season on Monday, Aug. 12. Coach Tom Wittum handed out equipment as well as starting the first team workout.

Paddock won in the 35 and over category, and Fey in the associate male category. Paddock is Grayslake High School golf coach.

Runners Participate

Almost 400 runners participated in the second "Great America 10K" held last Sunday at Six Flags Great America in Gurnee. The mayor of Gurnee, Dick Welton, started this race that raised $4,100 for the Society's programs, of research, patient financial assistance and education. According to Dan Kuhn, Race Coordinator, the event raised almost $10,000 for the Society since it began last year.

The race was organized by Gurnee Running Club and employees of Paul's Honda in Libertyville. Major sponsors included Eastern Air Lines, WCKG and Coca-Cola. Eastern Air Lines awarded round trip tickets for two to anywhere in the U.S. that they fly to the top money raiser, David Wermund, of Aurora.

For more information on leukemia and the work of the Society contact the Leukemia Society of America, Inc., Illinois Chapter, 203 N. Wabash, Chicago, Ill. 60601, (312) 726-0000.

Wauconda Slates Date

Wauconda High School has announced the first day of practice for each of its fall athletic programs.

Football practice has already begun (Aug. 12), as has volleyball practice (Aug. 14). The first day of practice for Soccer will be Monday, Aug. 19 (3 p.m.); Cross Country—Monday, Aug. 19 (9 a.m.); Tennis—Monday, Aug. 19 (9 a.m.); and Golf—Wednesday, Aug. 28 (after school).

All practices will be conducted at Wauconda High School and athletes are encouraged to come in this week to take care of the various paper work involved.

Cook Learns Lesson Improvising

I learned a lesson the hard way about improvising. It concerns a German dish I fell in love with during a trip to Disney World's Epcot Center.

My wife, some of her relatives and I had dinner at the German Pavilion's Biergarten, oom-pah band and all. While Anita's relatives ate chicken, we dined on Gerbratene Kalbshaxe — roasted veal shank with vegetables.

I had hoped to duplicate the dish at home. I got hold of several recipes, not the exact one, and improvised. I bought the veal shank at my favorite Italian specialty store, where it usually is cut for Osso Buco a'la Milanese, which is braised in white wine, tomatoes and other vegetables.

Instead of simmering the shank in seasoned water with vegetables, then browning it in the oven while basting with melted butter, I braised the meat entirely on the stove. I also mistakenly let the shank simmer in the sauce instead of pouring it over the meat after cooking.

I later discovered the error of my ways after locating the exact recipe. It explained in less noisy language than my wife's why the shank tasted nothing like the meal at Epcot.

To make amends, I prepared another dish that I often ate away from the Army barracks in West Germany — Wiener Schnitzel.

So it was culinary justice that I returned to the Italian store, where I learned that the veal cutlets from the leg's underside are usually on sale — not the topside cuts that I planned to purchase.

I ended up going for the more expensive veal. At least I didn't have to pound them thinner. I also learned that the method of cooking veal cutlets didn't originate in Austria, but was introduced from Italy.

Live and learn — and cook.

Italian Wiener Schnitzel

4 Italian-style veal cutlets
2 teaspoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 egg, beaten
6 tablespoons Italian-style bread crumbs
6 tablespoons butter

Pilot Light GREG MELIKOV

Slash edges of veal to prevent curling during cooking. Sprinkle each cutlet with lemon juice, dredge in flour, dip thoroughly in egg and dredge in bread crumbs. Melt butter in large skillet and fry cutlets on medium heat, turning first time after eight minutes, until golden brown, cooking 15-20 minutes. Can garnish with lemon slices. Can serve with potatoes, lettuce and tomato wedges. Serves four.

Boning Own Chicken Less Expensive

Boneless chicken is easy to cook. It's the boning that takes time and patience.

A friend asked me how to bone chicken wings. "You're kidding," I said, explaining that I didn't own a scapel.

When I attended my stepson's wedding, they served an array of Italian dishes, including eggplant Parmesan, baked ziti and huge meatballs. There was also Chicken Francese, which was shaped like stars and was the size of half dollars — thanks to a cookie cutter — and deep-fried.

"Chicken Francese," the catering hostess said "Chicken delicious." I said I decided to prepare the dish using chicken breasts. Boning my own saved about $1.70 a pound.

While a fillet knife helps separate the flesh from the bones, the main action is supplied by supple fingers. I got rid of the big bone first, then removed the skin. It took about 45 minutes to do the first five breasts, including trimming excess fat and gristle.

I inserted each piece in a plastic storage bag and used the side of a meat mallet to pound the chicken thinner, working from the center out.

It was worth the effort.

Chicken Francese

5 chilled chicken breasts, skinned, boned and split (10 pieces)

1 cup all purpose flour
2 eggs
Salt and black pepper to taste
5 tablespoons olive oil
9 tablespoons margarine
10 thin lemon slices
1 lemon, halved

Pound chicken to about 1/2 inch thick. Place flour in soup bowl, in another soup bowl, whisk together two eggs, salt and pepper. In large skillet, heat two tablespoons each oil and margarine on medium heat. When margarine bubbles, dredge four pieces chicken in flour, dip well in egg, cook four minutes on each side until browned and arrange on large platter; add two tablespoons each oil and margarine, brown four more pieces and remove to platter; add one tablespoon each oil and margarine, brown last two pieces and remove. Place lemon slices on each piece and evenly squeeze over chicken juice from 1 lemon.

Pour off any liquid from pan, wipe with paper toweling, heat four tablespoons margarine, swirl around until it bubbles and pour over chicken. Serves five. Pass one-half lemon at table from additional squeezes.

Getting Credit Card Easy—Know Rules

by GARY S. MEYERS

Winning approval for the credit card of your choice can be made much easier — if you know the rules of the game.

Finding out whether you're eligible for credit cards can be as complex as understanding the credit industry's system for evaluating you experts told The Meyers Report.

Because of the heavy volume of credit card applications, major credit card issuers are forced to use a rigid point system to determine an applicant's eligibility.

"Evaluations are made by clerical staff who are trained in data processing. They usually are not trained professional credit analysts and are neither allowed to perform nor capable of subjective evaluation of an applicant's financial capabilities," said Irwin Cole, deputy chairman of Cole-Taylor Financial, an Illinois multi-bank holding company.

"The scoring system is very rigid and as such it can be both unfair and manipulated," said a senior Texas banking official and credit card expert, who asked to remain anonymous. "The people who approve credit cards have only one job — to avoid making mistakes. No banker ever lost his job for saying no."

For example, one credit card company turned down a young farmer who had saved $350,000 in family inheritance money in certificates of deposit, but didn't include that information on his application. He was denied credit partly because he was only 20 years old.

Some institutions and credit card companies assign points to many things, even to job titles. Another problem the young man are considered one of the most important credit criteria.

"Oil company credit cards score a lot of points, and the more cards you have the better," said Cole. "they are higher rated than local or even some national department store credit cards."

Eligibility for bank credit cards, like MasterCard, Visa and others, depends on the individual financial institution issuing the card. Credit requirements vary greatly, experts told The Meyers Report.

"Typically, credit reviewers look for stability, length of residence, length of employment and a history of responsible financial relationships," said Cynthia Hardy, for First Nationwide Savings of California in San Francisco.

First Nationwide Savings, unlike many larger institutions, issues their own credit cards under evaluations determined by their own trained professional credit analysts.

"This way individuals get more personalized treatment," Hardy said. "Fewer mistakes are made by doing our own evaluations rather than using someone else's more rigid point system."

Now that you know some of the ropes in the credit card business, here's an invaluable list of tips for filling out the application forms:

- Type your application. It impresses the evaluators and is legible. Hard to read applications are susceptible to mistakes and might not get processed at all.

- Fill in every blank. One successful 38-year old Chicago business executive was denied credit because it seemed he was underage. He missed the blank noting his birth date. The clerk automatically rejected the application without any further credit examination. The clerk assumed the candidate was a minor. (However, credit was given after one phone call.)

- Leave nothing to the imagination. Attach a continuation sheet or a letter if you have something to say that adds to your credit-worthiness. Don't hide it; spell it out.

- Job titles are very important. A person with the position of "building engineer" will score twice as many points under the job title category than a worker who lists "boiler tender" as his occupation — even though it's the same job with different names.

- Do not lie. "Credit will be rejected when an untruth is found," said Cole. "Any rejection will automatically show up on routine computer credit checks and that can hurt the applicant in the future."

The exact methods for your interest calculation are spelled out in your account agreement.

"Referring to business women as a whole, we are in a special class all of our own. Most men are intimidated by us and a lot of women probably wish they could acquire the independent nature we have to survive in this world."

On the whole, I feel very good about myself and my business. I personally feel a major part of being a success is a lot of hard work and having to work very long, hard hours when someone else won't or can't.

Finally, I feel owning my own business has made me a better person, by building my self confidence and my self discipline."

Fran Heywood

During Jan Burdick's 6 years as the owner of the Merle Norman Cosmetics Studio in Antioch, she has helped many hundreds of women achieve their beauty potential. Mrs. Burdick has completed extensive training in the latest techniques and products, and is a recognized expert in skin care and make-up artistry.

"It's wonderful knowing that we can provide women with excellent quality products and, above all, service. Service is my business and I try to fill the personal color and skin care wants and needs of each woman who comes into my studio."

Mrs. Burdick's philosophy and belief in "the Golden Rule is paramount in dealing with customers. It's the only way," says Jan!

Gurnee Gas Station Going Self-Serve

by DEBBIE HORVE

Since 1946 Robert Worth has been selling gas in Gurnee since on the corner of Rte. 132 and Rte. 21 in a simple full-service Amoco station.

The station is now closed and has been demolished to make room for a new self-serve convenience gas station.

The new facility will sell sandwiches, milk, diapers, oil, cold cuts as well as gas. Customers will no longer be able to bring cars in to be looked at and repaired. Although, there will be a tow truck available for emergencies and someone around to check oil and give advice.

The original building was built in 1936 by D.E. Russell. Worth worked for Russell and in 1946 convinced his father, Rollo Worth, to be his partner in the business.

Worth, 64, now owns the property on the corner of Grand Ave. and Riverside Dr. and leases it to Amoco. Amoco has agreed to lease the new $400,000 facility to Worth's daughter and son-in-law, Susan and Rob Tiernan.

Amoco has wanted Worth to make the switch for years and will be paying to have the new facility built. "They have done a lot of traffic studies as well as customer and business surveys and feel this is the best way to go," Tiernan states.

The new station will have one full-service island which will be open 12 hours a day. "We have a couple wheelchair-bound customers and people who just prefer to have their gas pumped," Tiernan says.

The self-serve pumps will be open 24 hours a day along with the convenience store.

The Tiernans expect the new facility to open in early November. Tiernan states that people can come in for help, air, gas or information any time night or day. "We believe that the new station will be an asset to the community," Tiernan says.

Storage Business To Open Soon

Owners of the Fox Lake Mini Storage and Rental, Inc. have announced that construction is nearing completion on phase one of the company's facility on Arlington Lane.

The three owners, Fox Lake residents Ken Mansfield, Ron Johns and Tom Arkman, said that ground was broken on the 1.3 acre site in May. The 43 units, ranging in size from five-foot by five-foot to 10-foot by 30-foot should be available to rent no later than August 1.

Phase one of the site's construction program will utilize about 5,100 square feet. However, there is a potential for approximately 18,000 square feet of indoor rental space.

Name Winners

The winners of three contests conducted by the Republican Party of Lake County Information Booth of the 1985 Lake County Fair have been announced. The contests were: identifying baby pictures of two prominent Lake County Republicans and guessing the number of "Jelly-Bellies" in a huge jar. The items were displayed at the booth throughout the fair.

The identity of the baby pictures were top secret with only the booth manager, Venita McConnel of Wauconda Township, and close family members knowing the true identities.

"Guesses ranged from Ronald Reagan to former President Jimmy Carter and County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle to Sheriff Mickey Babcox," said McConnel. "It was a lot of fun, and everyone got a big kick out of it," she added.

The baby pictures were those of Lake County Republican Party Chairman Robert P. Neal and retiring Regional Superintendent of Schools William L. Thompson.

Guessing correctly the identity of Neal was Holly Enzenbacher of Antioch, and naming Thompson was Richard Warfield of Wauconda. Enzenbacher and Warfield will be the dinner guests of Neal and Thompson respectively, at a county restaurant of their choice.

The correct number of "Jelly-Bellies" in the jar was 4,077 and the closest guess was 4,066. The winning guess belonged to 15-year-old Chris Michalek of Third Lake. Michalek did not use a computer or calculator to come up with the winning number, instead he played a "numbers" game. "My football jersey number last year was 66, and I tacked 40 in front, and that's how I got the 4,066 total," said Michalek. "It could have been the other way around," he stated with a grin.

For guessing the closest number, Michalek will get the 4,077 "Jelly-Bellies" to prepare for the upcoming football season.

Republican Party Chairman Neal said, "of the nearly 150,000 fair-goers who attended the fair this year, most seemed to stop by our booth and everyone seemed to have a great time." Neal added, "We are grateful for the splendid job Venita McConnel and her volunteers did in making the Republican booth such a huge success."

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) Guess who's pulling the wool over the chic Sheep's eyes. Surprise? Yes, it's you. Face facts. Success depends on your efforts. No one else can do for you what you can.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Time to toss out outworn methods that no longer work and substitute new approaches to your work habits as well as in your personal relationships. Good results soon follow.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) You can't preserve a romance by bottling it up. Love grows when you give it freedom to do so. Aspects favor a more open relationship. The next move is up to you.

Cancer (June 21-Jul. 22) The moon favors outlets for creative energies. Fuller, freer expression in the arts leads to fuller, deeper personal relationships as well. Enjoy this rewarding time.

Leo (Jul. 23-Aug. 22) Your usually ever-helpful Sun sign withdraws temporarily. But you'll be pleasantly surprised at what you find when your eyes aren't dazzled by Old Sol's strong light.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Yours is the harvest sign. You can now expect to reap the rewards of what you've sown in the past months. Don't be surprised if some "crops" yield bumper bonuses.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) The phrase to remember is be flexible. Be less rigid than you usually are about goals. You may need to redefine your plans to fit changed situations.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Compromise remains your strong suit. Accept some workplace changes while you offer ideas of your own. Expect to receive a friendly reception to your suggestions.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Surprises are everywhere at this time. Expect old friends to reappear. New ideas you weren't sure of turn out to be highly favorable to your best interests.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Watch the tendency to lapse into daydreams that lead nowhere. If a thought is good enough to think about constantly, it should be good enough to act on now.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Aspects indicate an emphasis on emotional matters. Romance is favored; so are home and family. In business, use caution. Check 'em out before you send a check.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Home life brightens considerably. Old problems appear to fade as new attempts are made to avoid misunderstandings. Be more consistent in your commitments.
